AQUASTAR PRODUCTS MADE ENTIRELY IN THE USA

Pool products manufacturer utilizes only American materials and processes

SAN DIEGO, Calif. – With so many companies outsourcing their production to foreign manufacturers, it is refreshing to find that at least one company insists on manufacturing every one of its products in the USA using American materials and processes. That company is AquaStar Pool Products, Inc., a San Diego-based pool products manufacturer.

AquaStar’s commitment to American-made materials and processes permits the company to oversee every aspect of manufacturing from design to packaging and allows them to ensure that all their products are manufactured to the highest quality standards.

When companies send their manufacturing overseas, they often do not have complete control of the materials and processes used to make their products. Having worked in the manufacturing business for three decades, AquaStar co-founder Olaf Mjelde has dealt with this issue firsthand.

AquaStar is committed to manufacturing all of its products on U.S. soil with American materials and processes. Mjelde believes that this helps to ensure consistently high quality throughout the company’s product line.

“We make certain that every one of our products is made in the USA with American materials,” said Mjelde. “This ensures that every AquaStar product will consistently offer the best look, feel and performance.”
